dered All of the above articles, and a great many others not enumerated, were purchased at the opening of the present Parisian season, and are consequently a whole season in advance of the styles usually found here, as the goods imported to this country are generally ordered the preceding March, and hence are necessarily of the previous Fall's Parisian styles. Hence, to avoid the annoyance of being always behind the fashions, while making a visit to Europe, I stopped a few weeks in Paris, and bought the above goods in person, from first hands. I hope the kind patronage of the Ladies will enable me to make a yearly trip to Paris, with the sole object of keeping pace with the Parisian fashions, and to have all new styles of goods here at the same time they appear upon the Paris shelves. Particular attention given to orders.

MISCELLANEOUS READING

A PHYSICIAN'S EXPERIENCE IN DRINK-Dr. Dixon, of the Scalpel, in one of the re-cent articles on lager beer and its compara tive intoxicability, gives the following account of his own experience in drinks:

"We began to drink early-a few days at ter birth-and we have been at it ever since We did not begin exactly on grog, or tea, or coffee-though we have been told by our brethren, they think we could have stood it even thus early. We are told we took to the latter, and the use of wine very kindly. It was a constitutional habit we derived from our progenitors. We were always taught to view a drunkard as a filthy creature, and once confirmed in the habit, of little consequence; and better dead than alive; so we still think. We brought the matter of la ger beer to the only test of which it was sus ceptible, namely, its actual use; thus we proceeded. After the use of Falkirk ale during the winter season, when we desired it, a twenty cents a bottle, holding an ordinary tumbler full, we became perfectly familiar with its effects. We found it after a hard day's professional labor, mental and physical, a generous provocative to a good plant dinner of roast beef or steak, and a decided comfort to the inner man; if taken before din ner, or at night, we always suffered a head ache or loss of sleep; so we discontinued its use at those times, nor do we now use it dur ing spring or summer, reserving it only for the coldest weather, when we can breathe it away, and not feel it in our head. In the spring and fall months, we use Philadelphia ale, but as soon as the summer approaches we invariably find that article either drug ged or liquored up to the fuddling point then we stop it, and take to claret, which never affects the head-as we use it-possi bly because we never take enough, as in our humble opinion, all the brains a man has, especially if he knows them to be mod erate in quantity, he had better keep in good working order, if he gets his living by sur We take black tea in the morning, for its exciting and sustaining properties-not in the evening, because its exciting property would keep us awake all night; green tea is very delicious and very intoxicating, and we never use it because we know it to be so. Coffee we love dearly, and used it in our youth to be a coffee sot. We left it off because it had nearly destroyed our digestion, and gave us violent palpitations of the heart; our nervous system could not stand it; neverthe less, we love it excessively still, as our nose informs when we smell it, but we never use it. Now for the experimentum crucis. Falparallel with Royal street, 37 feet 10 inches, more kirk ale, costing twenty cents for a small or less, to a 10 feet alley, running through the pint, does not produce any swimming in pint, does not produce any swimming in the head, or confusion of ideas—although we know it contains spirit because it did not it would not answer our purpose. Claret, about half a pint or much depressed, a pint -costing three shillings-we find just about as generous a stimulant as Falkirk ale. We are brought to strong doubt of the summer Philadelphia ale as an honest article, by the test of a price; it only costs seven cents, and will make a man's head swim, and his eyepresent arranged, contains two large Stores on the first floor; a public Hall in the second story, about as long, as the vilest kind of lager beer; so we set that down in summer, as drugged or liquored. Lager beer costs three cents to six, differing in price according to the getting up either of the others; one is quite enough to be felt sensibly over the eyes, and is apt to be followed by headache." PIANOS. JARGEST ASSORTMENT OF PIANOS IN THE COUNTRY IN FOUR SUCCESSIVE YEARS At the Maryland Institute, besides first premium At the Fairs in Philadelphia, Washington and WORCESTERS PIANOS.-From the New York Commercial Advertiser, November 17th, 1859:-- For the better part of a generation they have been constantly before the public, all .. thein, old and new, proving, by their stability and constancy, the skill with which they are constructed. For durability of tone, for evenness and unformity of work, and for excellence of frames these PIANOS may well challenge competition We know instruments of Mr. Worcestor's turn out, that have borne the thumping of fifteen years, and remain as perfect in tone and in build as in their first estate.
